

DOLAN GEIMAN ABOUT THE ARTIST

Born and raised in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, Dolan Geiman's formative years were defined by outdoor adventures. Twenty-plus years later, the flora and fauna, found curiosities, and fading Appalachian culture still define Geiman's contemporary-folk creations. Trained in printmaking and sculpture, Geiman's mediums span painting, collage, silk screen, drawing, and 3-D assemblage. Geiman has been featured in media outlets ranging from Juxtapoz to Country Living and Treehugger to Design*Sponge with a nationwide following of individual collectors, art consultants, and interior designers. An advocate for green design and sustainable business, Geiman and his wife and business partner Ali Marie Geiman currently work from a green warehouse in Chicago's Bridgeport community.

GOOD TO KNOW

- All original artworks are handmade in a smoke-free environment.
- Approximately 90% of the materials used to create original artwork are recycled and/or obtained through the creative reuse of materials destined for a landfill.
- Digital reproductions of Geiman's original artworks are produced by a professional printmaker in the USA.
